

Night in Acadie

Excerpt from A Night in Acadie There was nothing to do on the plantation so Telesphore, having a few dollars in his pocket, thought he would go down and spend Sunday in the vicinity of Marksville. There was really nothing more to do in the vicinity of Marksville than in the neighborhood of his own small farm; but Elvina would not be down there, nor Amaranthe, nor any of Mame Valtours daughters to harass him with doubt, to torture him with indecision, to turn his very soul into a weather-cock for loves fair winds to play with. Telesphore at twenty-eight had long felt the need of a wife. His home without one was like an empty temple in which there is no altar, no offering.
