A psychopathic killer was now close on their heels already leaving death in his wake as he too had left for England; a contract had been signed and for the Conclusioner he would allow nothing to be changed once that had been done death was on its way, but for how many? What were they going to do and how could they protect the people they loved? Who was the person behind all this and just how deep did it all go and would they have the time to find out?
