

The Half Life

From Redbooks Red-Hot Read series, a short story by the New York Times #1 best-selling author of In Her Shoes and Fly Away Home. My life is over, Piper DeWitt thinks to herself, awaiting departure in the overcrowded International Terminal of the Philadelphia airport for an overseas business trip, to romantic Paris no less. She watched as her husband, Tosh, put his own suitcase into the trunk of a taxi the day before. Hed been telling her for months that he wasnt happy, and though she still wants to believe it is just a phase, after a call to her mother from the Admirals Club, she can no longer deny that hes left her, left their home, left their four-year-old daughter in her mothers sole care. Piper met Tosh when she was only 22, just the way self help books said she would - when she wasnt looking. Now at forty, she wonders how, through all those years, theyd gotten to this place in their marriage. When her flight is canceled due to volcanic ash spreading from Iceland across Europe, and when a handsome stranger offers her an invitation to share a cab, she realizes she can take a departure from her own life. And after a day of living like a tourist in her own city, she hopes she can still find her way home...
