

Summer

A girl came out of lawyer Royalls house, at the end of the one street of North Dorner, and stood on the doorstep. It was the beginning of a June afternoon. The springlike transparent sky shed a rain of silver sunshine on the roofs of the village, and on the pastures and larchwoods surrounding it. A little wind moved among the round white clouds on the shoulders of the hills, driving their shadows across the fields and down the grassy road that takes the name of street when it passes through North Dorner. The place lies high and in the open, and lacks the lavish shade of the more protected New England villages.
