

Summer Month, or Recollections of a Visit to the Falls of Niagara and the Lakes (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Summer Month, or Recollections of a Visit to the Falls of Niagara and the Lakes
Carpe Diem, or, seize the present moment, is a very important maxim in life, and in no situation more so, than with regard to travelling; but to be able to do this, is the grand point. Often when we think we have caught the fugitive, we find we have grasped a shadow. This however should not divert us from the aim; but we ought, in our endeavours to profit by time, to exert our judgments, or we shall find ourselves woefully disappointed. Whereas by attending to this circumstance in the commencement of a tour, there will most likely be produced a happy issue, and the Retrospect such as would be desired.
